Dear Stakeholder

A9 North Kessock to Tore Study

I refer to our most recent stakeholder workshops on 18 and 25 May where we looked at the long list of potential options referred to in the Case for Change Report, published in March 2021. After assessing the feedback we received from these sessions, we have consolidated these options into five categories based on timing of potential delivery and indicating which options may work better together, noting the aim of each option and highlighting any potential consequence of each option in turn.

As indicated, the next part of this process will be a public consultation to listen to the views of the wider public and allowing an opportunity for informed feedback. That consultation is due to launch this Wednesday at 13:00 on social media channels Facebook and Instagram and we would greatly appreciate your support in circulating the link to those you may be engaged with. Principally, this is a digital consultation hosted on the Scottish Government consultation portal Citizen Space and the link for the consultation is here: <https://consult.gov.scot/transport-scotland/a9-north-kessock-to-tore-study>. Please note this is an eight week consultation which will close on Friday 27 August 2021. Further information is also available on the Transport Scotland website: Road Safety \(transport.gov.scot\). I have attached an A4 poster which you may want to print and display in any public spaces you have permissions to use.

If you require any further information or support in sharing this consultation, please do not hesitate to get in touch.

Kind regards,

Stuart Wilson
National Operations Manager – Safety & Development
